Slip into something special with Café Leather's new suede driving gloves

Lead

After an impressive year of new releases and big-time collaborations, Café Leather have one last treat for us before the new year rolls in, their brand-new Triton driving gloves in suede. Now available at the CD Shop.

Spanish-born leather lovers Café Leather certainly know a thing or two about how to cater for a car-loving driving enthusiast. While their leather gloves have been a tremendous success for a number of years now, which have adapted into many variations suited for all drivers, the talented team are now using suede to create some magic.

Their Triton style glove is their signature piece, and is inspired by racing of yesteryear, offering incredible resistance to the elements and wear, as well as feeling great on your hands. All created entirely by hand, these suede gloves have comfort at their core, with an elasticated zone in the wrist area to provide security and comfort while driving.

Available in a fantastic array of new colours, including Sand, Forest, Grey, Camel, and our personal favourite, Black Coffee. Each shade allows you to adapt them to your autumnal outfits, and provide a much needed warmth as the temperature begins to decrease. You can discover the Triton suede gloves in the CD Shop now.
