Like Formula One? Then you'll love these pit-lane artifacts

Lead

If you're in the market for some memorabilia from Formula One's iconic seasons and drivers, you're in luck. Halmo is home to a plethora of rarer-than-rare items from the sport's best, from Schumacher to Senna, Mercedes to Minardi, these guys have it all and it's available in the CD Shop!

It could be your earliest memory of sitting around the flickering TV on a Sunday afternoon while your father watches through closed eyes, only to awake with a jump as the piercing tone of an excited Murray Walker rings around the room. Or, it could be a far more recent obsession, one that you stumbled upon, and now can't get enough of. However you found yourself falling in love with the travelling circus of speed that is Formula One, the fact is that once you become a fan, it's very unlikely that you'll stop.

With admiration comes the desire to own a piece of history, and Halmo might just be the ultimate storefront for acquiring what are some of F1's rarest and most collectible pieces of memorabilia. From Schumacher's race-worn shoes from 1991, through to a sidepod taken directly from a 1981 Alfa Romeo F1 car, there truly is no end to what can be collected and displayed, either at home or in the ultimate office. While many of Halmo's items are kept completely original, and work as pieces of art just as they are, some have been expertly converted into side tables and storage units, making a real talking point within a garage space or motorsport shrine.
