

CLASSIC DRIVER

$250,000 Brough Superior at Bench & Loom

Try getting your inside leg measured for this one. American purveyor of “clothing of style & substance”, Bench & Loom, is offering one of the new, highly sought-after Brough Superior motorcycles alongside its hip men’s threads.

As will have been noticed by regular Classic Driver readers, vintage (or otherwise ‘interesting’, non-plastic, Japanese rocket) ‘bikes are IN. And IN for this Fall season, we might opine, carefully stroking our sculpted beards while lovingly re-waxing our 1970 Belstaff Trialmasters.

So, in addition to the ‘look’ of Chapal ‘A-1 Leather Jacket’ ($2800) coupled with Stevenson Overall Co. ‘Ashland Work Trousers’ ($280) and Dehner for Bench & Loom ‘Strap Tank Boots’ ($425), can we suggest a proper motorcycle to go with them?

The 1000cc Brough Superior Retro ‘Pendine Racer’ ($250,000) is one of the brand-new Broughs, wonderfully recreated from the 1930s original and built to a very high standard indeed at the company’s factories in Austria and the United Kingdom.

And, like a bespoke leather jacket or engineer boots, the bike is built specially for the customer, with a build period of approximately six months.

For further information, visit www.benchandloom.com.

*Text: Steve Wakefield
Photos: Bench & Loom*

Gallery

Source URL: <https://www.classicdriver.com/en/article/250000-brough-superior-bench-loom>
© Classic Driver. All rights reserved.