Zenith Espada

Lead

'Espada': the bullfighter's rapier, made famous by Lamborghini in the late-60s and by Zenith in 1970 when it introduced a chronograph of the same name.

The latest Espada from the legendary Swiss watchmaker is a sophisticated 40mm-diameter, all-steel wristwatch carrying the company's famous El Primero movement.

It's the newest model from Zenith, a company eschewing the extravagantly styled pieces of its recent past and now producing discreet watches for those seeking something different – but not different...

Alternative colour dials are available, and either a steel or leather strap can be specified. The classic El Primero movement provides a high level of reliability and accuracy with a power reserve of 50 hours.
