Bentley 'sees the light' ahead of 2016 SUV launch

Lead

The long-awaited Bentley SUV is heading towards its 2016 release date at a rapid pace, and this video drops a few hints as to what it will look like...

In the video, Bentley claims to have seen the light. We're assuming the business case for a super-luxury SUV is rather strong (Rolls-Royce is said to be considering the option, too), so as long as "we don't see lines" reminiscent of the ill-received EXP 9 F concept, Crewe should be onto a winner - especially considering the success of other SUVs with Volkswagen-based underpinnings.
