CLASSIC DRIVER

Italian elegance aplenty at RM's Villa Erba sale

Lear

RM's Villa Erba sale this weekend will see 36 cars - many of which would be worthy of a spot on the neighbouring concours lawn - go under Max Girardo's well-weathered hammer...

Glamourama on the shoreline

Headlining the sale is (surprise, surprise) a pair of golden-era Ferraris: a 1961 open-headlight SWB California Spider, and a 212 Export Barchetta from 1952. The former, estimated to fetch \in 11m - \in 13m, was restored in recent years by Ferrari Classiche and has the certificate to prove it - although the decision to paint it in a non-original colour scheme might prove to be a costly one for the current owner. Meanwhile, the 212 has good period competition credentials and offers eligibility for a wide range of historic events; perhaps the recent media coverage of the Mille Miglia will help nudge bids towards the upper echelons of the \in 5.5m - \in 7m estimate.

Now to choose a land tender for the Riva...

As you might expect, Ferraris make up a good percentage of the rest of the lotlist, with sub-headliners including a Series II 250 GT Cabrio (estimate \in 1.5m - \in 2m), a 195 Inter Berlinetta by Ghia (\in 1.25m - \in 1.65m), a stunning 'Pino Verde' 250 GT Lusso (\in 1.8m - \in 2.2m) and the yellow 250 SWB Berlinetta Competizione (estimate on request) so often seen mixing it at the Revival in recent years. There's a (completely understandable) Italian bias to the rest of the lotlist, too; Lancia is represented by a Stratos Stradale the factory originally intended for competition use (\in 350,000 - \in 450,000), as well as a Zagato Flaminia Sport that's modestly estimated at \in 250,000 - \in 320,000 due to the less-desirable open headlights. But our favourite Italian is lot 132: the only Fiat 'Otto Vu' cabriolet made by Vignale (\in 1.1m - \in 1.4m), and perhaps the perfect land tender for the ex-Bardot Riva Florida - now the only Riva in the sale (\in 800,000 - \in 120,000) as the Aquarama Special has been withdrawn. Oh, and how could we forget the 1949 Alfa Romeo 6C 2500SS Villa d'Este (\in 600,000 - \in 700,000), the very example we proposed might be the most elegant classic car ever last time it was up for sale?

From the non-domestic contingent, highlights include a one-off BMW-Glas 3000 V8 coachbuilt by Frua (€380,000 - €480,000), a two-tone Lagonda V12 Drophead Coupé (€185,000 - €250,000), and an Austin-Healey 1005 (estimate €900,000 - €1,100,000).
