Has James Bond started smoking again?

Lead

With just over a month until the forthcoming James Bond thriller 'Spectre' is released, Aston Martin continues to tease us with 007's new car, the striking DB10...

Perhaps alluding to what a car chase in the movie might entail, this latest clip from Aston Martin demonstrates the DB10's blissful soundtrack, agility and capacity to burn rubber as though it's going out of fashion. And do we spy a manual gearbox? Still, we can't imagine it took more punishment than the cars they used for filming. Spectre will be first released on 26 October 2015, before which Classic Driver will be running a Bond-themed newsletter. We could tell you more but then, naturally, we'd have to kill you...
