Making waves with Bugatti's new luxury yacht

Priced at two million euros and available to order today, this stunning boat is the result of a collaboration between Bugatti and the yacht-builder Palmer Johnson...

Taking clear design inspiration from Bugatti's land-based machines (the shoulder line from the Type 57 C Atalante, for example), the carbonfibre-hulled luxury yacht is the first product of Bugatti's lifestyle partnership with Palmer Johnson. Bugatti's founder Ettore Bugatti developed racing boats in the 1930s, and this new example will be aptly named Niniette – a pet name Ettore used for both his daughter Lidia and, incidentally, for one of his boats.
