Unibro gives spare parts a second life

Lead

With its creatively repurposed car-part furniture, Austrian design studio Unibro has given enthusiasts a way to bring their automotive passion inside the house...

Inheriting the patina of its donor vehicle, each Unibro creation is unique in its own way – whether that be a desk made from the bootlid of a classic BMW Alpina, or a light formed from the air filter of an old Cobra. We're sure there are plenty more interesting projects in the pipeline; head over to the Unibro website for a closer look.
