Swatch goes stainless with the Sistem51 Irony collection

Lead

Swatch's popular Sistem51 collection of watches is getting an update this winter, receiving a host of new, more conventional dial designs and, most importantly, crisp stainless steel cases...

Shine a light

The use of stainless steel for the cases on the new Swatch Sistem51 Irony collection transforms the watches into much more elegant pieces, particularly with the interesting selection of more 'grown-up' dials that are worlds away from the colourful, quirky designs used on the previous plastic models. The innovative 51-piece automatic movement remains, making these affordable Swiss-made automatic watches that you really could wear everyday.
