What does one give the cultivated man who already has everything? One of the wonderful 'gentleman's essentials' from Larusmiani of Milan, of course! After all, you're never too old for toys beneath the Christmas tree...

Earlier this year in the spring, fashion entrepreneur and style guru Guglielmo Miani invited us to join him on a distinguished tour through the most elegant streets of Milan, from the comfort of his Bentley Turbo RT Mulliner. Now, the extrovert clothes and accessories of his family brand Larusmiani are finally available in the Classic Driver Market. And what better Christmas present for a gentleman of the world than a set of golden playing cards, a classic humidior, or a velvety claret dressing gown that even Santa Claus would envy? The following 10 'gentleman's essentials' are currently high on our wish list, while the rest of Larusmiani's current collection can be found in the Classic Driver Market.
