Lamborghini is the latest in a long line of brands to have teamed up with the ubiquitous streetwear label Supreme. The new capsule collection comprises seven pieces directly inspired by the colourful, bold and brazen supercars from Sant'Agata...

Raging hot

From toasters to house bricks, there's hardly an avenue that hasn't been explored by Supreme, the ubiquitous streetwear label that's lapped up by Hypebeasts from Jersey to Japan. Now, it's joined Lamborghini to present the seven-piece Automobili Lamborghini capsule collection. The jackets, sweatshirts, t-shirts and mechanics overalls, which are resplendent in bright colours from Lamborghini's range such as Verde Ithaca and Arancio Atlas and prominently feature the famous Raging Bull emblem, are joined by beanie hats and even a skateboard. Owing to the closure of Supreme's stores amid the coronavirus pandemic, items from the Automobili Lamborghini x Supreme collection can be bought online only for the time being.
