TAG Heuer celebrates 60 years of the Autavia with three new watches

Lead

Worn by racing legends like Jochen Rindt and Jo Siffert, the Heuer Autavia is one of the most iconic driving watches of the 20th century. Now TAG Heuer commemorated the 60th anniversary of the Autavia with three new and desirable collectors watches.

Worn by the some of the greatest racing drivers of all time and a highly collectible part of TAG Heuer's illustrious history, the Autavia celebrates its 60th birthday in style with these three new references. Taking inspiration from the dashboard timers that launched the Autavia name, these new pieces debut a Flyback Chronograph and for the first time a GMT 3 Hands in the Autavia collection. TAG Heuer's close link with motorsports, including the recent partnership with Porsche make them the racers choice. So many drivers in Formula 1 and sportscar racing have worn the brand, and alongside the Carrera, the Autavia is one of the names intrinsically linked with the fastest racers in motor racing history. These new pieces are a fitting nod to the history of one of motorsports greatest watch partnerships.
