Spend the winter in this Engadine dream chalet by Rolf Sachs

Lead

The artist Rolf Sachs has designed a luxurious chalet near St. Moritz that we would love to spend the entire winter in. It just so happens the 670 square meter Alpine villa with sauna, wine cellar and perfect panorama is now available for rent...

If there is a designer who has continually shaped and developed the style of St. Moritz in recent years, it is Rolf Sachs. Now the celebrated Engadine artist (and son of the great playboy Gunter Sachs) has focused his attention high above the Silvaplana - and created the chalet of our dreams. With six rooms including a bathroom, a large junior suite and a separate loft, the Chesa Bellaria offers ample space for every member of the extended family. Boasting over 670 square metres of living space, including a library, a modern sauna area and a wine cellar, the Chesa Bellaria provides the perfect refuge from the cold, while two large terraces offer wonderful views of the Alps and, of course, the 22,000 square metres of private land at the foot of the Julier Pass itself, characterized by the wild nature of the Engadine.

However, you most likely won't want to leave the Chesa Bellaria anyway, as Rolf Sachs designed it to be so stylish, unusual and harmonious that it is unmatched by any other Alpine villa that you might rent for your holidays. The color schemes, natural materials, regional furniture and artistic objects were coordinated by Sachs with great attention to detail - and make the Chesa Bellaria look like the home of an artist friend who has given you the keys for the winter. You certainly couldn't live more charmingly in the Engadin.

The Chesa Bellaria is now offered by Maura Wasescha in the Classic Driver Market. We recommend you waste no time and get in touch today to reserve Rolf Sachs' unusual dream chalet for your desired dates.
